

Notification email – Publication of final capex IM amendments determination and companion paper – 25 May 2018

Good morning

Today we have published the following papers reflecting our final decisions on the capex IM review:

- Our finalised capex IM amendments determination, setting out the amendments we have made to the capex IM determination;
- A companion paper explaining our final decision in relation to the requirement for Transpower to publish updates to its integrated transmission plan (ITP) in the penultimate year of a regulatory control period, and the changes we have made following technical consultation; and
- A copy of the finalised capex IM amendments determination that illustrates (in red) the changes we made following technical consultation (ie, between the revised draft determination and the final determination). This version is being published for information only.

These papers are available on our website at: <http://www.comcom.govt.nz/regulated-industries/input-methodologies-2/transpower-input-methodologies/capex-input-methodology-review/>.

We intend to create a consolidated version of the Transpower capex IM, and we will make this available on our website shortly.

We have also published the two submissions we received on our proposed amendment to the ITP requirements (from MEUG and Transpower). These submissions are also available on our website at: <http://www.comcom.govt.nz/regulated-industries/input-methodologies-2/transpower-input-methodologies/capex-input-methodology-review/>. We thank MEUG and Transpower for their submissions.

Kind regards,
Keston Ruxton
